UNIQUE HISTORIC SETTING

The Manhattan, also known as the J. K. McIntire Building, built in 1912 and located at 601 E. Third St. in downtown Dayton's historic Webster Station neighborhood. The Building's name was changed in September 2019 in a tribute to Dayton's role in the Manhattan Project. The Monsanto Company leased the top three floors of the building from 1946 to 1948, for use as a laboratory to test the biological impact of polonium radiation on the Dayton Project's personnel, part of United States Military led Manhattan Project. The building was listed on the National Register of Historic Places in February of 2006 as part of the Dayton Power and Light Building Group.
