Where do I begin? I love being in Union Plaza. The building is located in the heart of the Creative and Financial Corridors and across from the LR Tech Park. Walkable to restaurants, hotels, apartments, and the River Market. Perfect. Great building management and staff. Maintenance personnel, guards, and cleaning crews are all great to work with. The building is well-cared for and it shows. This building seems to be alive. It seems to be constantly buzzing with traffic. I love valet parking and the exterior lighting!

If someone asked me about renting a space in the Union Plaza Building, I would tell them that if there was space available to take it without hesitation. The management is very accessible and willing to meet with the tenants at any time. We just recently had a problem with our ice machine which has nothing to do with the maintenance crew but Carl and Ken came up looked at it and worked on it in their spare time over the next few days including hauling it down to their shop to work on it. Once, down in the parking garage, I had a problem with the person in the spot next to mine parking over the yellow line and blocking me in, to the point I had to start backing in and one conversation with the building manager and she found me another space around the corner. Nowhere else will you find this one on one attention from staff. Let me just say again that if there is space available take it while you can.

Anytime I've had an issue and had to call the management company or maintenance team, they always send someone right away and resolve the problem. It doesn't matter how small or large, they are always ready to help. After leasing the same space for over 30 years, our office downsized and moved to a different floor. The management team was very helpful in the design process as well as making sure all our needs would be met in the new space. The management company makes sure that everything in the building is running smoothly. They always keep the lobby clean and nice.
