THE ARLINGTON STORY

In 1897, the openings of the Union Train Station and Central Train Station changed the course of downtown. Union Station was one-half block away from the Arlington; Central, about a block. Trains were plentiful. For a period, some 45 passenger trains per day would stop in Shreveport and those travelers needed places to eat, shop, be entertained and sleep. One of those places was the Arlington.

Built by John McLoyd Comegys in 1913 and opened in 1914, it was called in a newspaper story, a 'hell of a place'. (We don't know if this was a good thing or bad thing.) What we do know is that the Arlington, though not a 5-star accommodation, was clean and neat. We were told by the Comegys family that the initial contractor ran off with the construction money and it appeared for a time that the hotel would not be completed. It was, but Mr. Comegys did not run it for long.

In 1913, local police pulled off a sting on the hotel. After seeing a large amount of coming and going, police became suspicious and went in armed with a warrant. And discovered that proprietor Philip Kohlbrunner and his wife were running a bootlegging operation, selling illegal Budweiser out of a cask for the 'unheard of' price of .30 per quart! At the time, Shreveport was dry, meaning no liquor could be sold.

In 1937, Mr. Baylor Culpepper of the Ruston area entered into a 99-year lease for the hotel that gave him rights to it until 2036! Mr. Culpepper was nothing if not BULLISH on Shreveport. So who was this man? Culpepper grew up on a farm near Athens, LA., in Claiborne Parish. In 1917, he enlisted in the Army but spent his military service in the U.S. After the war, he and his wife moved to Homer, La., where he worked as an oil rig builder. They saved their money and in 1921 he came to Shreveport and purchased his first hotel, saying "Shreveport was the best place in the world to live."

The hotel was in one of the 'coolest' spots in the city- not cool as in awesome, but cool as in airflow. The Arlington sits on a high spot. It had 44 comfortable, fire-proof rooms with oscillating fans, telephones and Spring-Air mattresses. Rates were $1-$2 dollars per night.

Mr. Culpepper did not keep the hotel the entire 99 years...by 1978 it had turned into a lower price boarding house. During its heyday, though, the Arlington was active. Along the Louisiana Street side are 5 retail spaces that were in use from 1914 until the 1980s. There were bicycle and motorcycle sales, shoe repair, a tailor, a small grocer, a barber, jeweler, clothing cleaner, a confectioner, and a BBQ stand.

Likely the most famous was a bar called the Gay Nineties that opened in Sept. of 1959. The Gay Nineties featured gas air conditioning and REAL Can-Can dancers, plus 'Kenny Rasmussen at the piano.' It also featured a Silver Dollar Bar that ran the length of the bar and was studded with real silver dollars. Hours of operation were high noon until midnight each day.

SHREVEPORT/BOSSIER CITY is part of the area called the Ark-La-Tex, a U.S. socio-economic region where Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, and Oklahoma intersect. The Shreveport—Bossier City MSA is home to Barksdale Air Force Base, Cyber Innovation Center, multiple colleges and universities, as well as several upscale riverboat casinos that bring over 2 million tourists to the area each year. North Louisiana’s 14 parishes of over 800,000 residents boast some of the most vibrant and diverse economies in the nation. In the latest census, the Shreveport/Bossier City’s population was 390,101. Northwest Louisiana supports a large and sophisticated healthcare sector, a competitive manufacturing base, a reenergized oil and gas sector (through the exploration of the Haynesville Shale), a sizeable and diverse service sector and supplier network, a transforming timber/paper industry, a hospitality/gaming industry, federal installations, movie filming/entertainment industry and more.
