DFW HIGH SPEED RAIL

The DFW High-Speed Transportation Connections Study, launched in 2020 by the North Central Texas Council of Governments, is now in Phase 2. This phase began in July 2021 and includes a two-year federal environmental review focused on route alignment and six potential station locations near 1000 Harding. Phase 1 established the corridor alignment, including a stop at Globe Life Field, and confirmed the Dallas station's tie-in to the planned Texas Central station. In Fort Worth, Trinity Metro's Central Station is the leading candidate for the downtown stop.
