PROPERTY HISTORY

THE HISTORIC COMPLEX LOCATED AT 222 SEVERN HAS PLAYED A PIVOTAL ROLE IN THE MARITIME INDUSTRY FOR OVER A CENTURY, WITNESSING THE EVOLUTION FROM FISHING TO MARINE CONSTRUCTION TO RECREATIONAL BOATING. WITH A RICH HISTORY DEEPLY INTERTWINED WITH MARITIME ACTIVITIES, THE SITE HAS BEEN A CORNERSTONE OF THE LOCAL ECONOMY AND CULTURE.

Owners of the complex have adapted the property and its uses to meet changing times and needs. Rather than succumbing to obsolescence, adaptive reuse strategies have breathed new life into the original structures and buildings. This approach has preserved the historical significance of the site while providing practical and useful space for today's businesses to flourish. The complex remains a vibrant hub for a variety of enterprises.

» THE EARLY DAYS

- 1750-1855: Oystermen, crabbers and fishermen live and work at 222 Severn and in Eastport spending their days in the far reaches of the Chesapeake Bay.
- 1855: The first official business is established here – The Annapolis Glass Company.
- 1904: The Chance Marine Construction takes over the property, building Chesapeake Bay workboats.
- 1914: At the start of WWI, Chance is commissioned to build 110' wooden submarine chasers
- 1937: The Annapolis Yacht Yard is founded, and they begin building exclusive luxury yachts.
- 1940: The AYY begins building 70 foot Vosper Torpedo Patrol Boats for the British Navy, and goes on to build a total of 28 for the War effort. The "Big Shed" building still standing today is constructed for this purpose.
- 1940: The famous "America" yacht – the first to win the "America's Cup" – is brought here for repair. However, she meets with tragedy on March 29, 1942 when an unusually heavy snowfall collapses the temporary storage structure and crushes the boat.
- 1943: The AYY builds another 100 PT boats for the Russian Navy.

ADAPTIVE REUSE STRATEGIES HAVE BREATHED NEW LIFE INTO THE ORIGINAL STRUCTURES AND BUILDINGS.
