

ENZ – Existing Neighborhood Zones

The Existing Neighborhood Zones are intended to protect the established development pattern and character of existing neighborhoods (such as density, lot dimensions, and street pattern) while also providing opportunities for infill development and improvements to existing homes. Existing Neighborhood Zones are divided into five sub-districts based on their existing and intended development character:

ENZ.1: The ENZ.1 sub-district primarily consists of single-family estate homes on larger lots using the previous RE-1 zoning district.

ENZ.2: The ENZ.2 sub-district primarily consists of single-family detached homes using the previous R-1 zoning district.

ENZ.3: The ENZ.3 sub-district primarily consists of single-family detached, single-family attached, and townhouse homes using the previous R-2, RA-1, and RT-3 zoning districts.

ENZ.4: The ENZ.4 sub-district primarily consists of duplex and apartments using the previous R-4 and R-5 zoning districts.

ENZ.5: The ENZ.5 sub-district primarily consists of manufactured housing using the previous MH-1, MH-2, and MH-3 zoning districts.

ENZ District Alternative Standards

1. Front Setback Averaging. Front setback may be reduced to average front building setback of homes along same side of street within same sub-district, or average front building setback of homes within 500' either side, whichever's less.
2. Front Porches. The front setback may be reduced by up to 6' provided the front porch is located no closer than 14' from front property line and is only enclosed with screens (not walls or windows).
3. Street Side Setback Averaging. The street side setback on any given lot may be reduced to no less than the average street side setback of lots within the same sub-district.
4. Side-Loaded Garages. Front setback may be reduced 10' to establish side loaded garage provided there is more than one side-loaded garage within same sub-district, the lot is at least 75' wide, reduction only applies to garage, garage has at least 1 street-facing window, and it has same design features/exterior materials as principal building.
5. Rear-Loaded Garages. The rear setback for a rear-loaded garage taking access from an alley may be reduced to 7.5'.
