Chipotle (CMG) Plans Aggressive Restaurant Expansion by FY26

OCTOBER 30, 2025 (GURUFOCUS)

Chipotle Mexican Grill (CMG, Financial) plans to expand its footprint significantly by 2026, with 350 to 370 new locations.

- The integration of Chipotlanes is a strategic move to enhance customer convenience and drive sales.
- Chipotle's financial health remains robust, with strong revenue growth and profitability metrics.

Chipotle Mexican Grill (CMG) has outlined significant growth plans for fiscal year 2026, aiming to open between 350 and 370 new restaurant locations. This expansion includes the addition of 10 to 15 establishments operated by international partners.

A key component of this strategy is the integration of Chipotlanes, drive-thru lanes, which are expected to be featured in over 80% of the company-owned restaurants, enhancing customer convenience and potentially boosting sales.

Chipotle Mexican Grill is the largest fast-casual chain restaurant in the United States, with systemwide sales of $11.3 billion in 2024. The Mexican concept is almost exclusively company-owned, with just three license stores operated through a master franchise relationship with Alshaya Group in the Middle East. It had a footprint of 3,726 stores at the end of 2024, heavily indexed to the United States, although it maintains a small presence in Canada, the UK, France, and Germany. Chipotle sells burritos, burrito bowls, tacos, quesadillas, and beverages, with a selling proposition built around competitive prices, high-quality food sourcing, speed of service, and convenience. The company generates its revenue entirely from restaurant sales and delivery fees.

Why Chipotle Mexican Grill (CMG) is a Top Growth Stock for the Long-Term

JULY 28, 2025 (YAHOO! FINANCE)

For new and old investors, taking full advantage of the stock market and investing with confidence are common goals.

While you may have an investing style you rely on, finding great stocks is made easier with the Zacks Style Scores. These are complementary indicators that rate stocks based on value, growth, and/or momentum characteristics.

Different than value or momentum investors, growth-oriented investors are concerned with a stock's future prospects, and the overall financial health and strength of a company. Thus, they'll want to focus on the Growth Style Score, which analyzes characteristics like projected and historical earnings, sales, and cash flow to find stocks that will see sustainable growth over time.

CMG is a Zacks Rank #3 (Hold) stock, with a Growth Style Score of B and VGM Score of B. Earnings are expected to grow 8% year-over-year for the current fiscal year, with sales growth of 7.5%.

A Delaware corporation, Chipotle Mexican Grill, together with its subsidiaries, operates quick-casual and fresh Mexican food restaurant chains. The company was founded in 1993 by Steve Eells, who started with a single restaurant in Denver, CO. The company offers a focused menu of burritos, tacos, burrito bowls (a burrito without the tortilla) and salads. Chipotle restaurants feature free-range, hormone-free pork, natural chicken and other meat products cooked using traditional methods and served in a unique atmosphere.

Five analysts revised their earnings estimate higher in the last 60 days for fiscal 2025, while the Zacks Consensus Estimate has increased $0 to $1.21 per share. CMG also boasts an average earnings surprise of 4.7%.

TOP 50

Odessa, Texas, is a thriving city boasting a population of approximately 124,400 as of 2025.

Known for its dynamic and resilient economy, Odessa serves as a critical hub of the Permian Basin, one of the richest oil and natural gas producing regions in the U.S.

Midland-Odessa have historically been the epicenter of oil and gas production in the United States, and are expanding into the logistics and aerospace industries. Chevron, XTO Energy, Shell, Halliburton, and ConocoPhillips each have corporate offices strategically located in Midland, TX.

The city's economy is deeply anchored by the energy sector, which fuels significant job creation and attracts substantial investments.

Beyond oil and gas, Odessa is diversifying with strong growth in healthcare, retail, and hospitality, contributing to a balanced and sustainable economic base. The city benefits from a strategic location, situated just 115 miles west of Midland and about 300 miles west of the Dallas-Fort Worth metropolitan area. This proximity allows Odessa to leverage access to larger markets and transportation corridors while maintaining a community-focused atmosphere. Odessa boasts over 4,300 businesses and employs nearly 60,000 people, reflecting a vibrant local economy. Odessa's commitment to infrastructure development and community services, coupled with its strong educational institutions and healthcare facilities, supports ongoing growth and prosperity. The city's economic diversification efforts, combined with its energy-driven roots, make it a compelling place for commercial investment and business expansion. Odessa's resilience amid fluctuating energy markets and its steady population growth present a promising outlook for both residents and investors, ensuring the city remains a vital economic player in West Texas and beyond. This blend of heritage, strategic location, and positive growth momentum gives Odessa a unique advantage as an attractive markets for development and economic opportunity.

TEXAS DISCLAIMER

CHIPOTLE MEXICAN GRILL ODESSA, TX

Approved by the Texas Real Estate Commission for Voluntary Use

Texas law requires all real estate licensees to give the following information about brokerage services to prospective buyers, tenants, sellers and landlords.

Information about brokerage services

Before working with a real estate broker, you should know that the duties of a broker depend on whom the broker represents. If you are a prospective seller or landlord (owner) or a prospective buyer or tenant (buyer), you should know that the broker who lists the property for sale or lease is the owner's agent. A broker who acts as a subagent represents the owner in cooperation with the listing broker. A broker who acts as a buyer's agent represents the buyer. A broker may act as an intermediary between the parties if the parties' consent in writing. A broker can assist you in locating a property, preparing a contract or lease, or obtaining financing without representing you. A broker is obligated by law to treat you honestly.

If the broker represents the owner

The broker becomes the owner's agent by entering into an agreement with the owner, usually through a written – listing agreement, or by agreeing to act as a subagent by accepting an offer of subagency from the listing broker. A subagent may work in a different real estate office. A listing broker or subagent can assist the buyer but does not represent the buyer and must place the interests of the owner first. The buyer should not tell the owner's agent anything the buyer would not want the owner to know because an owner's agent must disclose to the owner any material information the owner knows.

If the broker represents the buyer

The broker becomes the buyer's agent by entering into an agreement to represent the buyer, usually through a written buyer representation agreement. A buyer's agent can assist the owner but does not represent the owner and must place the interests of the buyer first. The owner should not tell a buyer's agent anything the owner would not want the buyer to know because a buyer's agent must disclose to the buyer any material information known to the agent.

If the broker acts as an intermediary

A broker may act as an intermediary between the parties if the broker complies with The Texas Real Estate License Act. The broker must obtain the written consent of each party to the transaction to act as an intermediary. The written consent must state who will pay the broker and, in conspicuous bold or underlined print, set forth the broker's obligations as an intermediary. The broker is required to treat each party honestly and fairly and to comply with The Texas Real Estate License Act. A broker who acts as an intermediary in a transaction:

- Shall treat all parties honestly
- May not disclose that the owner will accept a price less than the asking price
- Submitted in a written offer unless authorized in writing to do so by the owner;
- May not disclose that the buyer will pay a price greater than the price submitted in a written offer unless authorized in writing to do so by the buyer; and
- May not disclose any confidential information or any information that a part specifically instructs the broker in writing not to disclose unless authorized in writing to disclose the information or required to do so by The Texas Real Estate License Act or a court order or if the information materially relates to the condition of the property.

With the parties' consent, a broker acting as an intermediary between the parties may appoint a person who is licensed under The Texas Real Estate License Act and associated with the broker to communicate with and carry out instructions of one party and another person who is licensed under that Act and associated with the broker to communicate with and carry out instructions.
