Location Overview

RIVERSIDE COUNTY

The largest region of Southern California, the Inland Empire, comprised of both Riverside and San Bernardino Counties, is one of the most significant economies in the United States. It has been rated in the top tier for various measures of growth from population and job creation to construction and office space absorption over the last decade. It is generally considered to be the area between the southern coastal areas of Orange County, Los Angeles, and the Palm Springs CA, and other desert cities. Inland Empire contains over 50 cities, including Riverside, San Bernardino, Rancho Cucamonga, Ontario and Temecula's Wine Country to the south.

The U.S. Census Bureau-defined Riverside-San Bernardino-Ontario metropolitan area covers more than 27,000 square miles (70,000 km2) and has a population of approximately 4 million.[3] Most of the area's population is located in southwestern San Bernardino County and northwestern Riverside County. At the end of the 19th century, the Inland Empire was a major center of agriculture, including citrus, dairy, and wine-making. Agriculture declined through the 20th century, and since the 1970s a rapidly growing population, fed by families migrating in search of affordable housing, has led to more residential, industrial, and commercial development.

The Inland Empire is poised for extreme growth. The Inland Empire has added over half a million people in the past five years bringing the current population to 4.4 million. The Southern California work force has been migrating to the Inland Empire for reasons such as affordable land, excellent quality of life and relatively lowers housing prices coupled with efficient and multiple transportation routes. In fact, the Riverside-San Bernardino Primary Metropolitan Statistical Area is California's 2nd and the nation's 12th most populous region. The Inland Empire market continues to be one of the largest and most dynamic areas in the country, with diminishing land supply as well as steady absorption and demand, the area is poised for continued success. The area benefits from its infrastructure and the growing population who would prefer to live and work in the same community. There are many factors that continue to contribute to the sustained economic growth of the Inland Empire. These include:

- The Inland Empire offers a strategic West Coast location, vast amounts of available land for future growth, a highly-skilled and educated work force, a sophisticated transportation infrastructure, and access to 27 colleges and universities, including seven research institutions. The area features a changing economic landscape with emerging technological productivity, and employs an excess of 1 million people. The Inland Empire is also one of America's most unique regions, featuring impeccable mountains, lakes, deserts, and ample recreation and sporting activities, all within an hour's drive to the shores of the Pacific Ocean.
- Each year, millions visit the county to take advantage of the glorious desert winter, attend the Riverside County Fair and National Date Festival, the Balloon and Wine Festival, the Palm Springs International Film Festival, the Coachella and Stagecoach mega-concerts, the Paribas Open at the Indian Wells Tennis Center and the Humana Challenge, the golf tournament formerly known as the Bob Hope Classic. All those, joined with a rich, cultural heritage and frontier history, make Riverside County a great place live, work or visit.

Riverside County covers 7,208 square miles in Southern California. Together, Riverside and San Bernardino Counties have been dubbed the Inland Empire.

California's fourth largest county by population is expanding its economy, working to diversify beyond the housing industry that has driven the region's economy for years.
