sherman oaks, california

The San Fernando Valley of greater Los Angeles is home to just under 2 million residents, and Sherman Oaks is the center of Valley life, both geographically and culturally. Sherman Oaks provides its residents with an urban living style, boasting lots of green spaces amongst a wide array of boutiques, restaurants and shopping areas tucked against the Santa Monica Mountains. The neighborhood evokes a feeling of “Old LA” from its broad boulevards and classic architecture, and has historically been home to many Hollywood celebrities.

Sherman Oaks has grown into a highly desirable neighborhood of 70,000 residents and boasts high-end residences and one of the highest concentrations of top LA schools. As a mature area historically inhabited by those over the age of 40, there has been a growing contingent of young, high-earning families that appreciate the more affordable living options and less hectic lifestyle available in the San Fernando Valley as compared to the Los Angeles basin.
