WELCOME TO WASHINGTON'S MOST ICONIC
waterfront DESTINATION

This building has taken its place in history, now it's your turn. 600 New Hampshire, commonly known as Watergate 600, is one of the most prestigious buildings in the internationally recognized Watergate complex. With major renovations now complete, it is changing the new standard of office buildings.

BE A PART OF history

- The Watergate Complex was the first building designed and constructed with the use of an IBM supercomputer
- Designed by Italian architect Luigi Moretti
- The Vatican owned a portion of SGI, the company which built The Watergate Complex
- The five curving towers of the “Watergate Towne” were the District Of Columbia’s first major international real estate development
- The name is derived from the terraced steps west of the Lincoln Memorial that lead to the Potomac River
