Property Description

Encompassing approximately ±76 contiguous acres across seven adjoining parcels, this remarkable property offers an increasingly rare opportunity to acquire a large, unbroken landholding in Hoke County. Bordered by Big Marsh Swamp and Juniper Creek, the landscape combines mature timber, scenic natural features, and predominantly excellent soils, creating an exceptional setting for recreation, agriculture, conservation, or future development. Existing ATV and equestrian trails wind throughout the property, making it well suited for horseback riding, hunting, hiking, and year-round outdoor enjoyment. County water is available nearby, and the property's RA-20 zoning provides flexibility for a variety of uses, including large-lot residential development, private estates, agricultural operations, or a thoughtfully planned family compound. With timber value providing additional investment appeal and road frontage along McNeill Lake Road, a state-maintained roadway, this is a distinctive opportunity where natural beauty, long-term value, and responsible land stewardship come together.
