Market Overview

Goldsboro, NC

Historically, agriculture has been the foundation of its economy, with key outputs including tobacco, soybeans, corn, cotton, and poultry. Over time, the county has diversified into manufacturing, healthcare, logistics, and small business growth.

Goldsboro, NC—Wayne County's largest city with a population of approximately 34,600—serves as the region's economic hub. Major employers such as Seymour Johnson Air Force Base, Wayne UNC Healthcare, Maxwell Foods, and Goldsboro Milling anchor the local workforce. The economy today is supported by a balanced mix of industries, including manufacturing, healthcare, and retail services.

Goldsboro offers a wide selection of office, retail, industrial, and medical spaces, especially along high-visibility corridors such as US-70 and Wayne Memorial Drive. Infrastructure upgrades—including improvements to US-70 and the future I-42, along with the presence of Wayne Executive Jetport—continue to enhance regional accessibility and position the area for sustained growth.
