ZONING INFORMATION

The “DC” (Downtown Commercial) District is intended to prove a land use category for normal commercial uses in the downtown area. The provision that regulate this land use district should make the district compatible with residential districts, as well as, inner city/town commercial districts.

DC District (Downtown Commercial)

The Plan Commission and Board of Zoning Appeals should strive to use this district within incorporated limits in order to create a special mixed-use area of small-scale pedestrian oriented commercial, retail, and office uses within the cities and towns located in Fulton County.

The Plan Commission and Board of Zoning Appeals should strive to minimize parking lots between buildings, rather encouraging parking behind buildings.

Fulton County

— I N D I A N A —

Fulton County, Indiana, established in 1836 and named after steamboat pioneer Robert Fulton, offers a stable population of approximately 20,000 residents and a balance of rural character with regional connectivity. The county sits along U.S. Route 31, providing direct access to Indianapolis and South Bend, positioning it well for commerce, logistics, and commuter convenience. The local economy is supported by agriculture, light industry, and small business, while residents benefit from a high quality of life enhanced by abundant natural and recreational amenities such as the Nickel Plate Trail, Ruth Kern Nature Preserve, and Germany Bridge Park.

At the heart of Fulton County is Rochester, the county seat and largest city, with a population of just over 6,000. Rochester combines historic small-town character with modern amenities. Its signature attraction is Lake Manitou, a 700-acre recreational hub that drives seasonal tourism and supports year-round community activity.

Beyond its history and natural beauty, Rochester provides strong infrastructure and community amenities that support growth. The city features an 18-hole golf course, equestrian facilities, and a municipal airport with a 5,000-foot runway, making it accessible and well-equipped for residents, visitors, and business users.
