The offering combines a secure income stream from TD Bank, part of Toronto-Dominion Bank, with strong underlying real estate fundamentals, including a freestanding bank building featuring a triple drive-thru configuration and 19 surface parking spaces (6.69 per 1,000 SF). The site's layout is designed to accommodate high-volume banking operations, benefiting from strong visibility, controlled access, and consistent consumer traffic generated by the surrounding retail and office environment.

TD Bank has successfully operated at this location since November 2011 and maintains a lease through November 30, 2031, providing approximately 5.7 years of remaining term. The tenant currently pays $25,712.50 per month ($9.06/SF) under a NNN ground lease, with a scheduled rent increase on December 1, 2026 to $28,283.75 per month ($9.97/SF). The lease includes four (4) five-year renewal options, with rental rates set at fair market value, subject to a minimum of the prior rent and a maximum increase of 10%.

4319 Collington Road is positioned along Collington Road, a primary commercial corridor in Bowie with traffic counts exceeding 17,000 vehicles per day, and benefits from direct access to U.S. Route 50, a major east-west highway connecting the property to Washington, D.C. and the broader region. The property is immediately across from Bowie Town Center, an established open-air retail destination anchored by Safeway and Macy's, with additional national tenants including Best Buy, LA Fitness, and Barnes & Noble. BOWIE, MARYLAND

Bowie, Maryland is a well-established suburban market within Prince George's County and part of the greater Washington, D.C. metropolitan area, one of the most stable and highly educated employment regions in the country. The city benefits from a strong commuter base tied to federal, defense, and professional employment sectors, with residents commuting to Washington, D.C., Annapolis, and Northern Virginia. Major nearby employment centers include NASA Goddard Space Flight Center, Joint Base Andrews, and a concentration of federal agencies and contractors throughout the D.C. metro.

4319 Collington Road is positioned within Bowie's primary commercial node at the intersection of Collington Road and Town Center Boulevard, directly across from Bowie Town Center, the area's dominant retail destination. Bowie Town Center is anchored by national tenants including Safeway and Macy's, with additional retailers such as Best Buy, LA Fitness, Barnes & Noble, and a mix of restaurants and service-oriented tenants. This retail concentration functions as the central shopping hub for Bowie and surrounding communities, driving consistent daily traffic and reinforcing the long-term viability of the corridor.

The property benefits from strong regional connectivity via U.S. Route 50 (John Hanson Highway), located just south of the site, providing direct access to Washington, D.C. (approximately 15 miles west) and Annapolis (approximately 15 miles east). Route 50 serves as one of the primary commuter and commercial corridors in the region, supporting both local traffic and regional draw. Collington Road itself acts as a key north-south arterial feeding into this corridor and servicing the surrounding residential and commercial base.

In addition to retail and employment drivers, Bowie benefits from institutional and lifestyle anchors including Bowie State University, a major regional university, and Prince George's Stadium, home to the Bowie Baysox minor league baseball team. These amenities contribute to consistent local activity and reinforce Bowie's role as a regional hub rather than a purely commuter suburb.
