Press Roastery is a modern warehouse consolidating the client's operations into a unified facility showcasing the roasting process and providing a complete coffee 'experience.' A mezzanine-level tasting room floats above the space and overlooks the production floor and a cafe. Inspired by the client's logo, black masonry alternating with white metal panels creates a strong graphic identity inside and out. A level of refinement is introduced with custom steel windows and detailing, including a slatted shade structure which extends the volume west towards the street, capturing a patio and shading the entry, while providing an armature for signage and lighting.
