Lodi Wine Production

and its influence on the industrial / manufacturing sector

Lodi remains exceptionally well-positioned for long-term resilience and strategic growth in the broader wine market. The region continues to stand out as a historically productive and diverse wine region with deep generational expertise. Transitions within the wine sector are creating new, promising opportunities for industrial and manufacturing facilities around Lodi. The formation of the Lodi Winery Business Improvement District (LWBID) strengthens long-term marketing, tourism, and promotional funding for the region, increasing winery traffic and boosting demand for production, storage and logistics space. Increased production activity among local wineries is driving demand for local warehouse space for barrel storage, warehouseing, packaging, logistics providers, equipment suppliers and ancillary facilities.

LODI'S ACCESS TO INTERSTATE 5 AND HIGHWAY 99 PROVIDES EFFICIENT DISTRIBUTION CORRIDORS FOR WINE PRODUCERS SHIPPING THROUGHOUT CALIFORNIA AND THE WEST COAST
