AREA OVERVIEW - BURBANK

1605 VICTORY BOULEVARD

Burbank is a city in the southeastern end of the San Fernando Valley in Los Angeles County, California, United States. Located 12 miles northwest of downtown Los Angeles, Burbank has a population of 107,337. Billed as the "Media Capital of the World" and only a few miles northeast of Hollywood, numerous media and entertainment companies are headquartered or have significant production facilities in Burbank, including Warner Bros. Entertainment, The Walt Disney Company, Nickelodeon Animation Studio, The Burbank Studios, The Cartoon Network Studios and many others. Today, an estimated 150,000 people work in Burbank. The physical imprints of the city's aviation industry remain. In late 2001, the Burbank Empire Center opened with aviation as the theme. The center, built at a cost of $250 million by Zelman Development Company, sits on Empire Avenue. By 2003, many of the center's retailers and restaurants were among the top national performers in their franchise. The Burbank Empire Center comprises over 11% of Burbank's sales tax revenue, not including nearby Costco, a part of the Empire Center development. Burbank also opened its first Whole Foods Market near The Burbank Studios lot in June 2018. The mixed-use development also includes apartment units above the store.

During the past 12 months, average asking rents have seen gains of 2.3%, besting movements of 0.4% seen across the Greater Los Angeles office market. Average asking rates in Burbank are up by around 5% since early 2020, contrasting with metro-wide averages, which show rental rates slightly below early 2020 levels. Warner Bro's two-building, 800,000-SF complex along the 134 Freeway completed in late 2023. Prior to this development, Overton Moore Properties completed work on nine smaller office properties with 142,000 SF in its Avion Burbank mixed-use complex. Presently there are no office properties under construction. With office sales, Burbank saw $140 million in transactions during the past 12 months. With average market pricing of $380/SF and cap rates of 6.9%, office buildings typically sell at pricing similar to Greater Los Angeles office market averages. On average, office properties in Burbank see pricing slightly above market-wide averages. Asset pricing, averaging $380/SF, is above the Greater Los Angeles office market average of $350/SF. Average market cap rates, 6.9%, are below the Greater L.A. average of 7.1%. Office assets in Burbank often come at a premium to properties in neighboring Glendale and Pasadena. The submarket's appeal to entertainment firms has made buildings attractive to some investors.

AREA OVERVIEW-GLENDALE

Glendale is a city in the San Fernando Valley^[10] and Verdugo Mountains^[11] regions of Los Angeles County, California, United States. At the 2020 U.S. Census the population was 196,543,^[7] up from 191,719 at the 2010 census,^[12] making it the fourth-largest city in Los Angeles County and the 24th-largest city in California. It is located about 10 miles (16 km) north of downtown Los Angeles. Glendale lies in the Verdugo Mountains, and is a suburb in the Los Angeles metropolitan area. The city is bordered to the northwest by the Shadow Hills and Tujunga neighborhoods of Los Angeles; to the northeast by La Cañada Flintridge and the unincorporated area of La Crescenta; to the west by Burbank and Griffith Park; to the east by Eagle Rock and Pasadena; to the south by the Atwater Village neighborhood of Los Angeles; and to the southeast by Glassell Park neighborhood of Los Angeles. The Golden State, Ventura, Glendale, and Foothill freeways run through the city.

Average asking rents have seen modest gains during the past 12 months, seeing growth of 1.7% during this period. Rents in the area average $38.00/SF, providing occupiers relative affordability while still offering attractive amenities. During the past five years, developers added only 81,000 SF of net new office space. Today, there is 150,000 SF underway. During the past 12 months, the Glendale Submarket saw $95.0 million in office transactions, modest activity compared to historical levels. Looking at recent completions, in 24Q2 Steelwave completed the 37,900-SF second building of Casitas, a 116,000-SF creative office campus in Atwater Village. The project involves converting several warehouses. The Glendale Submarket saw 350,000 SF of new space delivered during the past 10 years. However, the area also saw 270,000 SF of space demolished during this period, meaning office square footage saw minimal growth. Recent sales activity in the Glendale Submarket was modest, with $95.0 million of buildings selling during the past 12 months. The largest sale in late 2023 has accounted for over half of dollar activity. Recent activity compares to the $230 million worth of office transactions annually, on average, during the past 10 years. Several recent sales have involved smaller, creative office conversions in Northeast Los Angeles. In January, a private buyer bought 5511 York Blvd., a 1,600-SF property in Eagle Rock extensively renovated in 2022, for $2.15 million ($1,315/SF).
