SITELINE SEATTLE

Siteline is a new pedestrian-focused mixed-use destination at the center of Seattle's growing Uptown Urban Center, only steps away from Seattle's most iconic landmarks - The Space Needle, Climate Pledge Arena, Pacific Science Center, the Museum of Pop Culture, with easy bike and transit access to Seattle downtown.

As the new home to the Space Needle Corporate Headquarters, Siteline embraces the multi-faceted vibrancy of the Space Needle and Seattle culture. A historical speakeasy, Rocker's Lounge, a French bistro-inspired demonstration kitchen, and a sports gaming lounge all pay homage to Seattle's eclectic art and sports culture.

UPTOWN OVERVIEW

Uptown Urban Center, formerly referred to as Lower Queen Anne, is a destination for visitors throughout the region. It's home to Seattleites seeking to live close to downtown, a center for the performing arts, limitless access to recreation, and the location of a growing workforce with accompanying housing and transit expansions.

The design character is dynamic and evolving. Open space in this dense pedestrian-oriented mixed-use urban center includes mid-block crossings and alleys that provide open space connections and gathering places throughout the neighborhood.

Uptown is connected to downtown and other neighborhoods by bus transit and the Monorail. It's proximity to downtown makes walking and biking easy. A future light rail station, located near Queen Anne and Republican Street, will add high-capacity transit to the mix.
