The Lagoon District

One of Santa Barbara's most exciting emerging pocket neighborhoods, the Lagoon District (A.K.A. Haley Street Corridor) is equal parts artsy and industrial, culinary and surf. An eclectic hub of makers and innovators that span several trades, from food and beverage to tech startups and art galleries. The Lagoon District's diverse business community shares an ethos of thinking outside the box, and in recent years the hip up-and-coming neighborhood has earned solid credibility as a culinary destination thanks to its fresh collection of wineries, eateries and breweries. In fact many of Santa Barbara's greatest restaurants reside in the Lagoon District, including the historic Arnoldi's Cafe, along with several award-winning small-batch wineries and breweries like Carr and Third Window Brewing.

The Lagoon District is truly Santa Barbara's hidden gem, known by locals as home to some of the very best the city has to offer. A historically industrial area, you'll still find local arts and trades workshops thriving here. Add to this landmark businesses, boutiques and specialty shops and you have everything at your fingertips to experience authentic, locally-crafted Santa Barbara culture.
