Yoshinoya, a pioneering Japanese fast-food brand, was established in 1899 by Eikichi Matsuda at Tokyo's Nihonbashi Fish Market. Renowned as the world's oldest fast-food chain specializing in rice bowls, its hallmark dish is gyudon—beef simmered with onions over rice. The company made its U.S. debut in 1975 in Denver and has since built a strong presence, particularly in California. Yoshinoya Holdings Co., Ltd., which oversees the brand, is listed on the Tokyo Stock Exchange under the ticker 9861.T. Its American arm, Yoshinoya America, operates over 100 outlets, including 70 directly owned locations, contributing to a global network of more than 2,200 stores in Japan, China, Shanghai, Taiwan, Hong Kong, Singapore, and Philippines. Yoshinoya America has outlined an ambitious growth strategy to double its footprint over the next five years, targeting expansion into states beyond its current California base. As part of this forward-looking vision, the company appointed Paul Nishiyama—formerly Chief Operating Officer of Better Buzz Coffee—as its new President, effective June 1, 2025.
