Our projects begin with a passion for our communities. Whether it be an award-winning hotel, a LEED-certified building, or a mixed-use office and retail space that reinvigorates a downtown, The Malcolm Bryant Corporation starts with one question— will this project make the community better?

Each project is a true investment in the community, and with it comes the commitment to do things extremely well— a commitment to how we design, build, and manage the property.

Our process begins not only with listening to what the market demands, but also listening to what your community desires. We are partners in visioning a better community through sound urban design, architectural excellence, and project and real estate management that goes beyond your wildest expectations.

From business incubation facilities, to historic building renewal, or sometimes a combination of both, The Malcolm Bryant Corporation is here to make your community the best place it can be for its residents, businesses, and guests.

Madison Silvert
President

Madison is President of the Malcolm Bryant Corporation. His greatest passion is helping people be the best they can be. An attorney and certified urban planner, Madison has spent most of his career as a community servant helping to build neighborhoods and businesses, and now brings this passion for people and community to every project we do.
