HISTORY

The Huron Building is located in the heart of Milwaukee's Historic Financial District, also known as the Hi Fi District-- the center of early Milwaukee's business and financial activity, and the heartbeat of the economy before Milwaukee was even a formalized city.

The Hi Fi District represents a historically and architecturally significant group of commercial activity between the years of 1856 - 1900, where wholesaling, banking, insurance and manufacturing drove the city's growth. The district features architecture by locally and nationally renowned architects, and a distinctly rich history.
