Prescott, Arizona

Situated at 5,200 feet, Prescott is celebrated for its friendly community and ideal weather, making it one of the state's most livable cities.

Together with the fast-growing Prescott Valley, it forms Arizona's third-largest metropolitan statistical area (MSA) after Phoenix and Tucson, with a population exceeding 115,000. With growth rates of 4.0% in Prescott and 7.0% in Prescott Valley, the region attracts entrepreneurs and residents drawn to its mix of business prospects, recreational offerings, and charming lifestyle set against a scenic backdrop.

The Prescott Regional Airport, a vital economic hub for Yavapai County and the 18th busiest airport nationwide, operates as a Class II Commercial Service airport, supporting both commercial and general aviation. Renovated in 2019, it offers commercial flights via United Express to major destinations like Los Angeles, Denver, and Phoenix, all within a two-hour flight. With funding secured for a main runway expansion to 10,000 feet, the airport is poised to enhance its capacity and further drive regional growth.

Located within the Prescott Regional Airpark, this site provides tenants with exceptional connectivity through easy access to SR 89A and SR 89, serving the Prescott-Prescott Valley-Tri-City metro area, as well as nearby Cottonwood, Camp Verde, and Sedona. The ongoing Interstate 17 expansion facilitates a seamless one-hour commute to Phoenix and major employers like Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company (TSMC).
