Investment Overview

Two-story prime Studio City apartment building with a Craftsman's touch. This property is late 70's construction that has been thoughtfully updated over the years, with top-tier workmanship, attention to detail, and style. All upgrades have been built to last and to grasp the attention of the consumer (tenant) who appreciates both quality and style. This is not your typical valley apartment building.

The floor plans are gracious, with ample light, and designed for living. The layout of all units invokes a feeling of a home, not just an apartment. Each unit has a spacious balcony. Some with great views. There have been thoughtful upgrades to the landscaping, and hardscape elevating the curb-appeal of this property.

Besides lower maintenance costs due to the many upgrades, 10 of the 14 units have individual water meters and pay for their water and sewer use. The remaining 4 units can be easily upgraded to the metered system. The owner has structured things so that tenants basically pay some of the utilities...specifically the use of water and the related sewer charges. This makes a very low cost to operate the building.

THE LOCATION

The building sits next to a quiet, walkable neighborhood, that was once home to the infamous Boney Island Halloween spectacle. This building, and the people who have chosen to call it home over the years have most certainly enjoyed the amenities and quality the property (and area) has to offer. They (because of the building's qualities) have also come to enjoy the feeling that they are a part of the neighborhood community.

HIGH BARRIER-TO-ENTRY -MARKET

Demand for single-family homes in the Studio City submarket is consistently high due to several factors. The city's desirable location, proximity to major employment hubs, and lifestyle amenities attract a high number of families and individuals seeking a suburban setting with access to urban amenities

In terms of supply, Studio City has a limited amount of new development land. This, coupled strict zoning regulations, contribute to a relatively limited supply of single-family homes. As a result, the market for single-family homes in Studio City tends to be competitive, with properties often selling quickly at or above asking prices.
