PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND

Jon's career path into commercial real estate is grounded in more than three decades of experience in healthcare finance, including his tenure as a Director of Finance for a community hospital. This background sharpened his ability to navigate complex transactions, analyze data, and provide clients with clear, strategic guidance—skills he now brings to his role as an Advisor with Blackstream® Commercial.

Having lived and worked in Greenville and throughout the Upstate for many years, Jon combines professional expertise with a deep connection to the community. His local knowledge, paired with his financial acumen, allows him to identify opportunities and deliver solutions tailored to each client's goals.

Jon works closely with his son, Michael, as part of Mumma Property Partners, offering clients a multi-generational perspective and a collaborative approach. Together, they help business owners, investors, and developers make confident, well-informed decisions in an ever-evolving market.

In Jon, clients find a trusted advisor who values precision, relationships, and long-term success—someone who views every transaction as an opportunity to create meaningful impact both for his clients and for the Upstate community he calls home.
