Downtown Santa Rosa

The heart of Santa Rosa is in the midst of an exciting period of revitalization with several new developments. First of these is the recent completion of the $10 million reunification of Old Courthouse Square. The Square serves as the center of and focal point for financial, cultural and business activity in Santa Rosa.

The SMART Train is now running and serves the Downtown area with multiple stops each day at the Railroad Square Depot, walking distance from Courthouse Square. The SMART Train travels to and from San Rafael several times daily along with many stops along the way including Rohnert Park, Petaluma, and Novato to the south and the Sonoma County Airport area to the north. Residents and business people can travel to and from Downtown Santa Rosa to destinations throughout the North Bay. And soon construction will begin on a new boutique hotel overlooking Courthouse Square.

Business people, visitors and local residents enjoy the Courthouse Square plaza, the high-quality craft breweries such as Russian River Brewing and 3rd Street Aleworks, the Wednesday Night Farmer's Market, the annual Iron Man Triathlon, the Amgen of California Bicycle Tour race, Movie Nights, Street Sales, Car Shows, the Luther Burbank Rose Parade, as well as various community gatherings held regularly throughout the year.

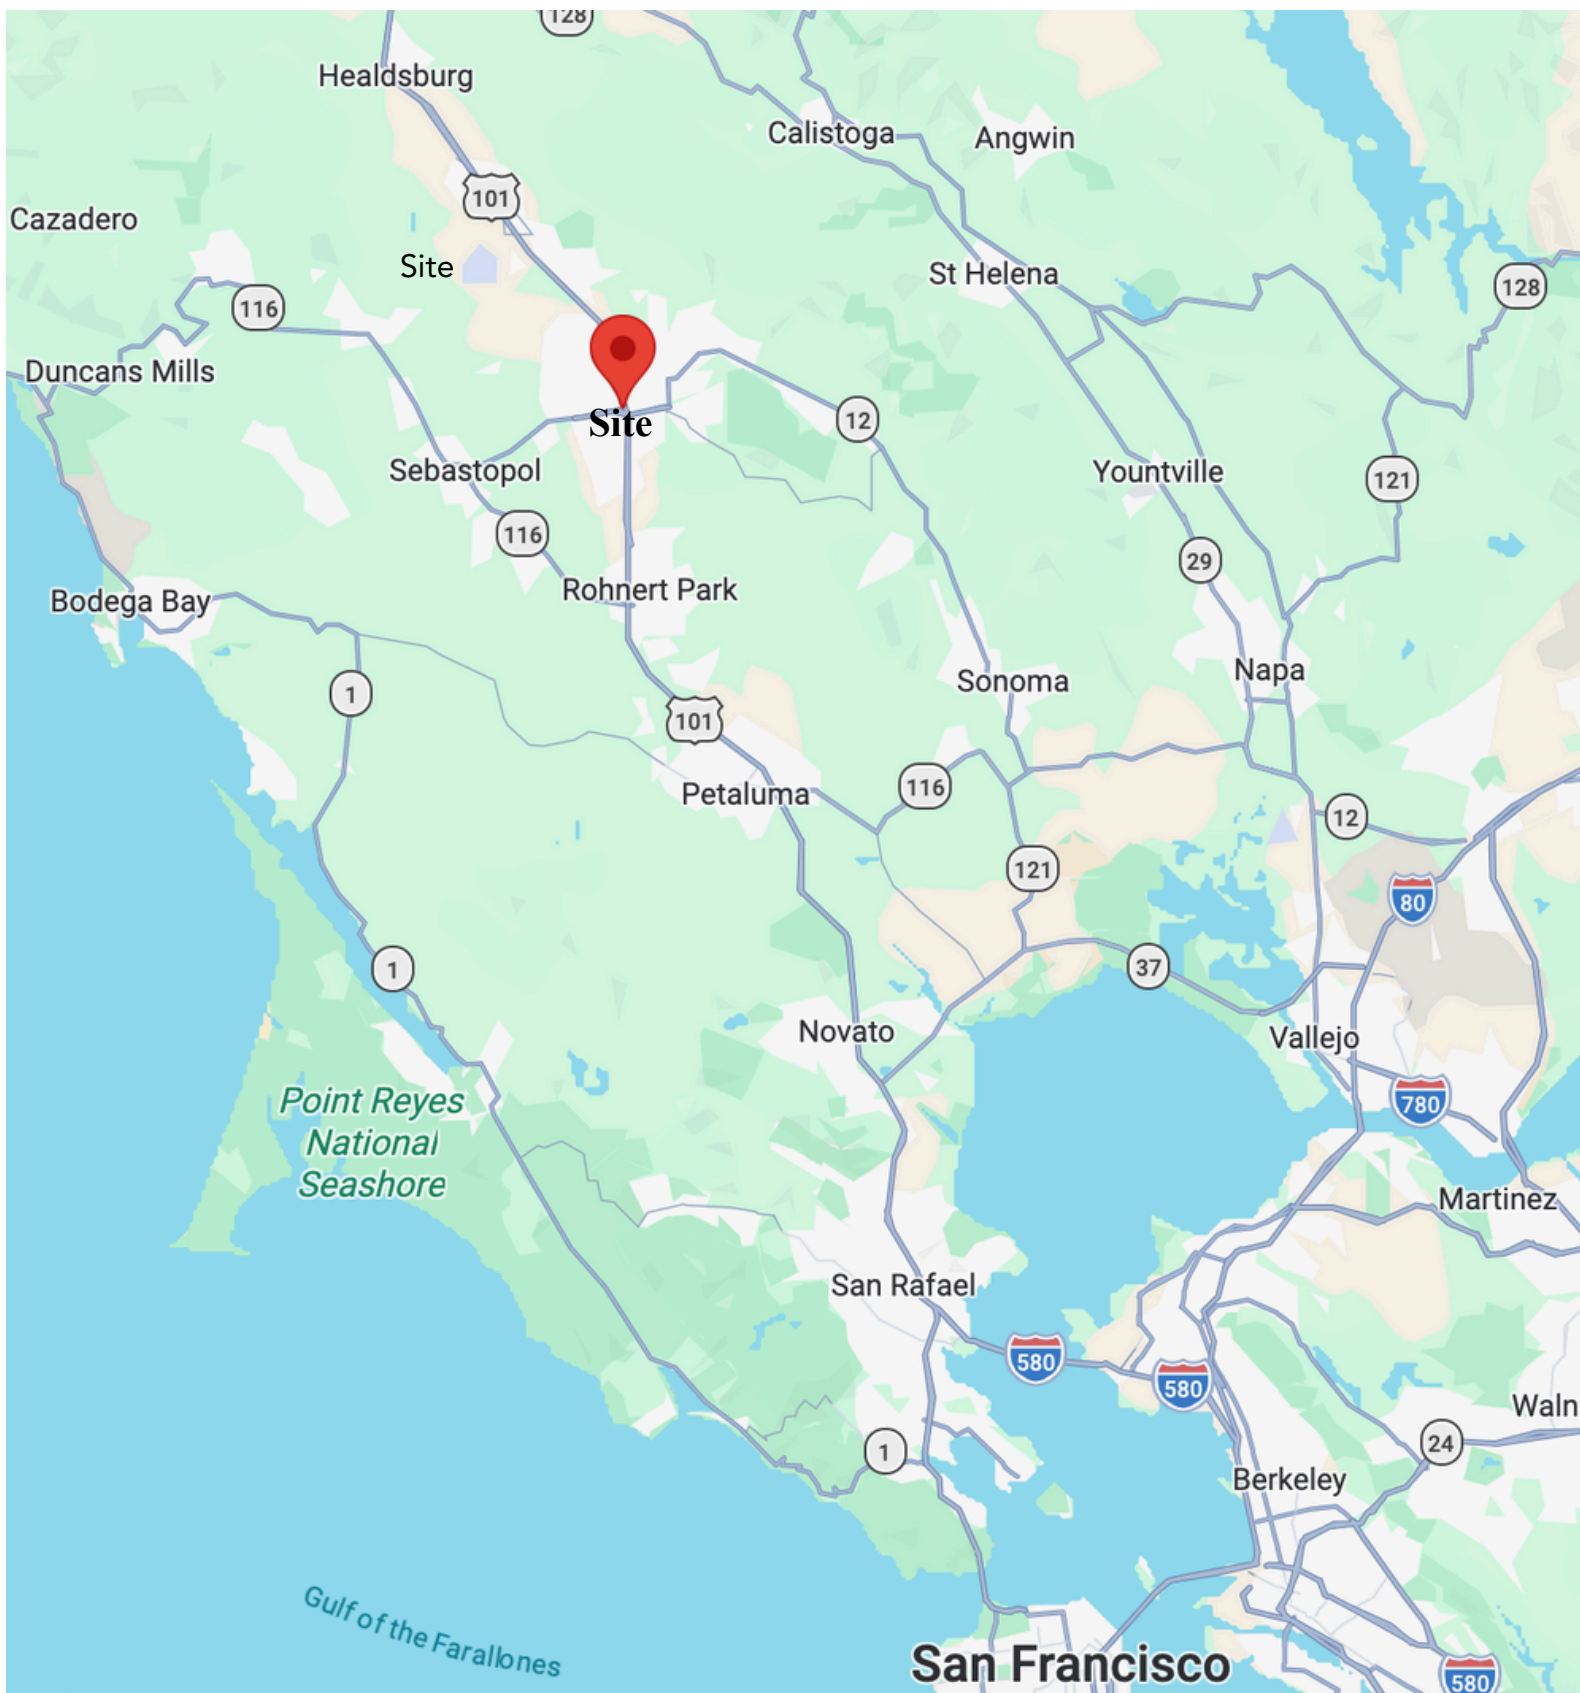

111 Santa Rosa Ave. is located 2 blocks from Courthouse Square and within walking distance to the major civic center of Santa Rosa with Federal, State and City government offices. There are over 15 banks, the main Santa Rosa U.S. Post Office, an excellent variety of restaurants, locally owned retail stores, museums, movie theaters, coffee houses and night clubs, all conveniently located just a short stroll away. The hip and revitalized South A Arts District is located a few blocks away as well, offering fine dining, retail stores and galleries. Also located in the area is "Santa Rosa Plaza", a major indoor mall, with many contemporary retail establishments.

The Prince Memorial Greenway is an adjacent public pedestrian and bicycle path along Santa Rosa to the town of Sebastopol 7 miles to the west in a quiet setting. The Greenway provides cyclists and walkers access to daytime exercise along the creek.
