KINGSTON POPULATION & DEMOGRAPHICS

POPULATION FORECAST

- The number of people who call the Limestone City home has grown seven per cent since the 2016 census, now sitting at 132,485, up from 123,798 five years prior.
- According to Statistics Canada, there are now 63,095 private dwellings within the city. According to Statistics Canada's 2021 Population Census, Kingston has one of the fastest growing downtown areas in the country. This places downtown Kingston's growth rate on par with downtown Toronto and just under that of Gatineau
- Including the student population not captured in the Census, the City of Kingston population base is forecast to reach 180,300 by 2046
- It is recognized that there are more than 30,000 students attending local post-secondary institutions within the City; however, a large portion of this population is not recognized in the permanent population and housing base as reported by the Statistics Canada Census.
- "While the permanent population in the City of Kingston has grown at a relatively modest pace, the City's student population is growing considerably faster. Strong growth in the City's student population base, combined with steady demand associated with the 75+ housing market, continues to fuel demand for rental housing within the City, more specifically high-density dwellings. This demand has not only lowered vacancy rates to an all-time low of 0.6% in 2018, but has also added pressure to market rents in the City."

ANNUAL RESIDENTIAL UNIT BUILDING PERMIT ACTIVITY & PRIMARY RENTAL MARKET VACANCY RATE

- Occupancy permits were issued for 2,719 new residential units between 2020 and 2023 within the City of Kingston.
- Over the past 10 years, on average, the City has issued building permits for 830 units per year.
- 2023 marks a vacancy rate of 0.8% for the City of Kingston, which has over the past ten years, tended to be lower than the provincial and national averages.
