PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND

With over 24 years of diverse experience, I have built a robust career that began in systems engineering and construction, and I am now focused on commercial real estate brokerage, real estate investment, and business brokerage. My technical background in construction and engineering adds a unique layer of expertise to my current role as a commercial real estate professional. As a Certified Commercial Investment Member (CCIM), I hold one of the most respected designations in commercial real estate, signifying my expertise in areas such as investment analysis, market evaluation, and financial structuring. This certification enables me to provide a strategic, data-driven approach to real estate leasing and investment, ensuring that clients receive tailored solutions that maximize returns and minimize risk.

In addition to my real estate credentials, my extensive experience in project management, work management, and customer management within the construction and engineering sectors gives me a distinct advantage when assessing property values, project feasibility, and long-term asset performance. My focus on manufacturing efficiency and quality, paired with my Six Sigma Black Belt certification, further strengthens my ability to streamline processes and optimize outcomes in real estate transactions.

This unique combination of skills—drawing from engineering, construction, and commercial real estate—allows me to deliver comprehensive, informed solutions that consistently exceed client expectations. By integrating technical expertise with strategic real estate knowledge, I offer a well-rounded approach to both leasing and investment projects, ensuring successful, efficient results for my clients.
