Prioritizing safety

Employees should feel confident returning to their offices. Enhanced safety measures have been put in place at One Southwest Crossing so tenants can focus on getting back to work:

Touch-less entries

Tenants can open doors automatically by swiping their access card.

Open transportation

The addition of a new open air stairway connecting floors 2-5 significantly decreases the need for elevator use.

Air quality upgrades

All air handling units have needlepoint bipolar ionization units installed; these have been shown to reduce virus particles by 99% within 30 minutes. This system also improves overall air quality in the building.

The air handling units have pre-filters installed in addition to Merv-13 filters, which is the current ASHRAE recommended filter to reduce airborne particles.
