EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Woodward Hotel, a beautiful, locally owned boutique hotel offering nine one-of-a-kind rooms and Quill cocktail bar, was created to strengthen our community, honor the arts and history, and share our incredible hometown.

The Woodward is named after Dr. Benjamin Woodward Griffith, Jr., a celebrated professor of English, folklorist and WWII Navy veteran and writer. In every room and in the Quill cocktail bar, you will find Southern literature and great books.

Situated among avenues lined with cherry blossom trees and church spires, steps from 53 restaurants, 31 bars and venues, 35 retailers, 7 art galleries, 9 museums and attractions in addition to 30 annual festivals.

Each of the nine rooms is a one-of-a-kind gem with luxe linens, plush mattresses, designer-tiled ensuite bathrooms, custom upholstery and cozy reading chairs.

Don't pass up the opportunity to own a piece of Macon's hospitality.

Seven Southern Hotel Bars Worth a Stay

Thanks to the friendly bartenders and patrons of Quill, a little literary-themed bar tucked into the Woodward Hotel, guests feel like they've stepped into a house party. "We have people walk in on weekends, and we know their name and their drink and we pick up on the chat from last week," says general manager Ashley Glassman. "We encourage out-of-towners to jump in the conversation." The space is welcoming but also slightly secretive, with no sign marking its entrance off an alleyway. But once you find it, you're invited to savor such cocktails as the bourbon, black tea, and blueberry "The Heart Is a Lonely Hunter" (named for Georgia author Carson McCullers's novel). Sip in the dimly lit nook, or head to the side patio or roof deck to hang with larger-than-life murals of Peach State writers Flannery O'Connor, John Oliver Killens, and Alice Walker.
