The Providence Building

The Providence Building is a six-story, 115,000 SF medical condominium complex located adjacent to the prestigious campuses of Providence St. Joseph's and CHOC Children's Hospital. Positioned within a thriving medical hub, the building is surrounded by many of the region's leading specialists, creating strong referral potential both onsite and throughout the broader medical corridor.

This property represents one of the few remaining opportunities for physicians to own their medical office space in this highly sought-after market. The building has long been home to established medical professionals, with ownership opportunities rarely available and typically opening only through retirement transitions.
