Just southeast of Raleigh and part of the thriving Research Triangle region, Johnston County is one of North Carolina's fastest-growing counties. Known for its balance of rural charm and economic momentum, Johnston County offers an affordable, accessible alternative to nearby urban centers, while maintaining close proximity to the state's capital and Research Triangle Park.

Home to more than 249,000 residents and growing rapidly, Johnston County spans 791 square miles and includes 11 municipalities, each with its own unique character. The county's strategic location along Interstates 40 and 95 makes it a vital corridor for commerce, attracting companies in advanced manufacturing, distribution, life sciences, and agribusiness. With a skilled and expanding workforce, pro-business climate, and a strong sense of community, Johnston County is a place where opportunity and quality of life go hand in hand.
