LOCATION OVERVIEW

Shasta Lake, California

About 10 miles north of Redding, Shasta Lake was built as a community to house workers building the Shasta Dam. Shasta Lake has a population of roughly 10,000 people with about 4,000 households in the area. Core industries in the area include timber and manufacturing. Despite its small-town feel, the city hosts local traditions like Friday Night in the Park, Shasta Damboree, and a Veteran's Day parade. The Wintu Cultural Center, a museum and gift shop, annually celebrates indigenous heritage. The main attraction is the nearby Lake that gives the town its name. Shasta Lake Reservoir is the largest artificial lake in California and is a very popular vacation destination, particularly in the summertime.
