ABOUT CHICO, CA

Chico, the most populous city in Butte County and fastest growing city in the state of California, is located at the northeast edge of the Sacramento Valley. As of the 2020 Census, Chico's population was 103,620, increasing to 104,002 after the 2018 Camp Fire displaced many Paradise residents who moved to Chico.

As the cultural, economic, and educational hub of the northern Sacramento Valley, Chico is home to California State University, Chico, the Sierra Nevada Brewing Company, and Bidwell Park, the 26th largest municipal park in the country.

Chico is experiencing significant investments across retail, infrastructure, residential, healthcare, and education sectors. This growth highlights the city's attractiveness as a business and residential hub, with a dynamic and expanding economy.

For businesses considering expansion, Chico offers a vibrant market with ample opportunities. Real estate investors will find a promising landscape with rising property values. For residents, Chico provides a high quality of life with its urban amenities and natural beauty.

Chico's growth and investment make it a prime destination for success and prosperity. Whether you are looking to expand your business, invest in real estate, or find a vibrant community, Chico offers opportunities for growth, innovation, and quality of life.
