  - “Taylor Morrison is also under contract for the Build-to-Rent section of Mount Dora Groves South and filed plans for one of its Yardly-branded communities with 309 one-story cottages, along with a clubhouse, pool, fitness center, pickleball courts and two dog parks”
- The site will benefit from strong intrinsic value in the underlying real estate with all of the new development underway in this corridor

County approves 550-acre Mount Dora North and South projects along SR46

March 12, 2025

Lake County has voted to approve land use and zoning changes for two sites, comprising 550 acres, in the Wolf Branch Innovation District just east of downtown Mount Dora.

County leadership said the hope is that the project would contribute to the «live, work, play» atmosphere promised in the Wolf Branch area, and will lead to the creation of more high-paying, high-quality jobs that will keep residents from commuting outside of the county.

“It’s really designated to be an employment center,” said Kathleen Dial, executive director of development services for Lake County. “There’s about 70 percent of our workforce, every day, leaves Lake County to go to work.”

“It is an urgent need. It’s something that keeps an economic development professional awake at night in their community if that is a need.”

Titled Mount Dora North and South, the sites are part of the broader plan to transform the area along State Road 46 near State Road 453, the northern spur of Florida 429.

The Lake County Commission voted 4-1 to approve the development, with Commissioner Anthony Sabatini being the sole no vote.

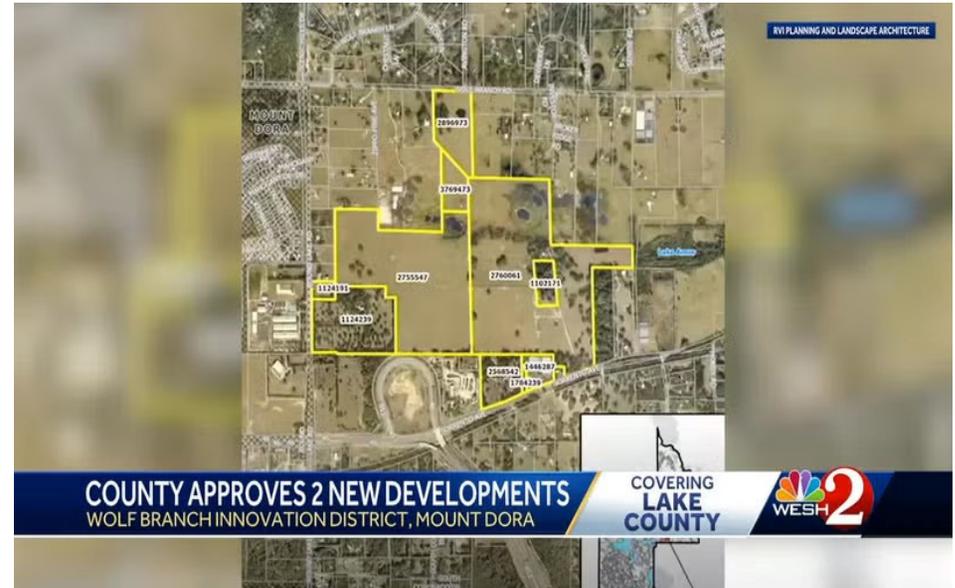

“I voted no on this project because it’s destructive of the distinctive agricultural identity of our Lake County community,” Sabatini said. “We do not need to ‘innovate’ our horse farms, strawberry farms, and cattle pastures—we should protect them from the sprawl.”

The project, by Richland Communities, is separate from a prior-approved, high-rise project just west of the two sites but also in the Wolf Branch Innovation District.

The high-rise project has drawn the ire of some neighbors in the area, mostly due to its height, but was approved by the city after the developer, Amco, took them to court.

“[Mount Dora North and South] brings forward the live, work, play atmosphere that has been envisioned for the Wolf Branch Innovation District,” Dial said.

Dial said the goal of the overall development is to spur economic growth and keep residents in the county. Mount Dora North, north of State Road 46 and along Round Lake Road, would be anchored by a village center, and would contain a mix of residential, commercial and office spaces, along with open spaces.

“There are some things in this area the developer will have to bring to the table to improve infrastructure in that area and that will probably be some of the next steps we see in this project,” Dial said.

Mount Dora South, south of State Road 46 and along 453, would contain large industrial space along with both low- and medium-density residential.

The project overcame its biggest governmental hurdle, and now the focus will turn to engineering, permitting and a site plan, Dial said.

“With some of the regional infrastructure and roadways improving, and the extension of the 429 into Lake County through the 453, it’s a real opportunity for the county to designate that area as a strategic corridor for growth, but mostly as an employment center,” she said.
