OVERVIEW

Reedy River Retail at SVN Palmetto is proud to present a rare chance to lease a fully built-out, two-story food & beverage destination in the heart of downtown Greer's revitalized "Greer Station." The city's recent $10M+ streetscape overhaul transformed Trade Street into a pedestrian-oriented brick-paver corridor—creating one of the Upstate's most walkable, experiential shopping and dining environments.

Home to Cartwright Food Hall, the historic building was reimagined in 2022 as a modern food hall concept. The ground floor features soaring ceilings with decorative tin panels, exposed brick walls, polished concrete floors, expansive storefront glass, and multiple turnkey vendor bays with custom millwork. The space could support a variety of concepts—from craft bar or taproom, chef-driven farm to table, or a signature full-service restaurant.

A dramatic open stair leads to the second level, which offers an additional bar build-out, hardwood floors, exposed trusses, flexible seating, and striking mural art—creating a memorable setting for dining, private events, or lounge/bar activation. Both levels total approximately 5,400 SF, with ±2,700 SF per floor.

Surrounded by destination restaurants, boutiques, and entertainment concepts, 215 Trade sits within one of the Upstate's fastest-growing downtown districts. Regular city-sponsored events, string-lit evenings, and strong foot traffic further support a high-performing F&B operator.

Offered at $32/SF NNN, this is a plug-and-play flagship opportunity for a restaurant, food hall operator, brewery, bar, or experiential food-and-beverage brand seeking a highly designed environment with immediate market presence.
