Local Market Overview

Houston is the fourth-largest city in the United States and anchors one of the most economically powerful metropolitan areas in the country. With a population exceeding 2.3 million residents and more than 7.3 million across the metro area, the region continues to benefit from steady in-migration driven by employment growth, affordability, and business expansion. Median household income levels exceed $60,000 within the city and trend higher across the broader metro, supported by a diverse employment base spanning energy, healthcare, manufacturing, logistics, and aerospace. The city's pro-business tax structure, lack of zoning constraints, and scalable infrastructure continue to attract both domestic and international capital.

For industrial investors and owner-users, Houston's strategic position along the Gulf Coast provides unmatched logistical advantages. The Port of Houston ranks among the busiest ports in the United States by total tonnage, while two major airports and an extensive freeway network—including I-10, I-45, US-59/I-69, and Beltway 8—facilitate regional and national distribution. The East End and urban infill submarkets near downtown have experienced heightened demand due to proximity to population density, last-mile logistics needs, and redevelopment activity. Industrial fundamentals remain supported by trade activity, petrochemical production, and sustained population growth.

Economic Drivers

Houston is one of the nation's largest and most strategically positioned industrial markets, supported by a diverse economic base and unmatched global trade connectivity. The metro benefits from sustained population growth, a deep labor pool exceeding three million workers, and a cost structure that remains competitive relative to other major U.S. logistics hubs. Industrial demand is driven by energy, petrochemical manufacturing, port logistics, consumer distribution, and advanced manufacturing users. Continued in-migration and business expansion support long-term warehouse and distribution space requirements across the metro.

The eastern Houston submarket, where Market Street Road is located, benefits directly from proximity to the Port of Houston, major petrochemical facilities, and critical transportation corridors including Interstate 10, Loop 610, Beltway 8, and Highway 225. This concentration of infrastructure supports import/export activity, container distribution, and heavy industrial operations. The area remains a preferred location for bulk warehouse, manufacturing, and logistics users seeking port accessibility and regional distribution reach.

Net Lease Disclaimer – There are many different types of leases, including gross, net, single net ("N"), double net ("NN"), and triple net ("NNN") leases. The distinctions between different types of leases or within the same type of leases, such as "Bondable NNN," "Absolute NNN," "True NNN," or other NNN leases, are not always clear. Information About Brokerage Services

Texas law requires all real estate license holders to give the following information about brokerage services to prospective buyers, tenants, sellers and landlords.

11-2-2015

TYPES OF REAL ESTATE LICENSE HOLDERS:

- A BROKER is responsible for all brokerage activities, including acts performed by sales agents sponsored by the broker.
- A SALES AGENT must be sponsored by a broker and works with clients on behalf of the broker.

A BROKER'S MINIMUM DUTIES REQUIRED BY LAW (A client is the person or party that the broker represents):

- Put the interests of the client above all others, including the broker's own interests;
- Inform the client of any material information about the property or transaction received by the broker;
- Answer the client's questions and present any offer to or counter-offer from the client; and
- Treat all parties to a real estate transaction honestly and fairly.

A LICENSE HOLDER CAN REPRESENT A PARTY IN A REAL ESTATE TRANSACTION:

AS AGENT FOR OWNER (SELLER/LANDLORD): The broker becomes the property owner's agent through an agreement with the owner, usually in a written listing to sell or property management agreement. An owner's agent must perform the broker's minimum duties above and must inform the owner of any material information about the property or transaction known by the agent, including information disclosed to the agent or subagent by the buyer or buyer's agent.

AS AGENT FOR BUYER/TENANT: The broker becomes the buyer/tenant's agent by agreeing to represent the buyer, usually through a written representation agreement. A buyer's agent must perform the broker's minimum duties above and must inform the buyer of any material information about the property or transaction known by the agent, including information disclosed to the agent by the seller or seller's agent.

AS AGENT FOR BOTH - INTERMEDIARY: To act as an intermediary between the parties the broker must first obtain the written agreement of each party to the transaction. The written agreement must state who will pay the broker and, in conspicuous bold or underlined print, set forth the broker's obligations as an intermediary. A broker who acts as an intermediary:

- Must treat all parties to the transaction impartially and fairly;
- May, with the parties' written consent, appoint a different license holder associated with the broker to each party (owner and buyer) to communicate with, provide opinions and advice to, and carry out the instructions of each party to the transaction.
- Must not, unless specifically authorized in writing to do so by the party, disclose:
 - o that the owner will accept a price less than the written asking price;
 - o that the buyer/tenant will pay a price greater than the price submitted in a written offer; and
 - o any confidential information or any other information that a party specifically instructs the broker in writing not to disclose, unless required to do so by law.

AS SUBAGENT: A license holder acts as a subagent when aiding a buyer in a transaction without an agreement to represent the buyer. A subagent can assist the buyer but does not represent the buyer and must place the interests of the owner first.

TO AVOID DISPUTES, ALL AGREEMENTS BETWEEN YOU AND A BROKER SHOULD BE IN WRITING AND CLEARLY ESTABLISH:

- The broker's duties and responsibilities to you, and your obligations under the representation agreement.
- Who will pay the broker for services provided to you, when payment will be made and how the payment will be calculated.
