PROPERTY OVERVIEW

Position your next residential development in one of Columbus, Georgia's most accessible and growing corridors. Located at the prominent intersection of Woodruff Farm Road and Milgen Road, this high-visibility corner parcel is zoned RMF2 (Residential Multi-Family 2)—making it an ideal site for medium- to high-density residential development.

This zoning allows for a range of housing types, including duplexes, townhomes, and low-rise apartment buildings, making it well-suited for developers targeting Columbus's increasing demand for attainable housing, workforce housing, or small-scale residential communities.

As Georgia's second-largest city, Columbus offers a strong economic base anchored by major employers like Aflac, TSYS, Coca-Cola, Pratt & Whitney, Kia, Hyundai, and Synovus. Nearby Fort Benning, one of the largest military installations in the U.S., brings a consistent influx of military personnel, civilian employees, and their families—fueling steady residential demand.
