DESCRIPTION OF PREMISES

We are excited to offer 8 affordable condominium units in Santa Rosa, designed for comfort, convenience, and community. These homes are part of the Below Market Rate (BMR) program, with income restrictions to ensure accessibility for qualified households.

Fox Meadow is a newly constructed residential development in Santa Rosa, located near the Russian River Valley with convenient access to both urban amenities and the Wine Country. The project consists of eight affordable housing units across four duplexes, designed for long-term performance and operational efficiency.

Each residence is energy-efficient and features advanced solar technology, helping reduce utility costs while supporting sustainability objectives. Homes are also plumbed for electric vehicle charging, positioning the asset for future transportation trends and long-term market relevance.

The community benefits from close proximity to preschools, elementary schools, middle schools, and high schools, enhancing tenant stability and making Fox Meadow well-suited for family households.
