WOODLAND HILLS, CALIFORNIA

Woodland Hills, CA, is a densely populated and affluent Los Angeles sub-market that offers its residents a suburban atmosphere, tree-lined streets, and good schools with proximity to major employment centers and a rapidly expanding retail environment.

Woodland Hills, a submarket of Los Angeles' Western San Fernando Valley, is bordered by Calabasas to the west, Canoga Park and Warner Center to the north, Tarzana to the east, and the Santa Monica Mountains to the south. The community's location provides easy access to the many business districts of Los Angeles, including Tarzana, Warner Center, Hollywood, West Los Angeles, Downtown Los Angeles, and Studio City areas. Residents of Woodland Hills have convenient options to numerous restaurants and nightlife, shopping centers, grocery stores, pharmacies, schools, open spaces, parks, sports fields, and walking trails within minutes of their home. The 101 Ventura Freeway provides East to West travel, and easily connects to the 405 San Diego Freeway. Ventura Boulevard, which stretches 18 miles long throughout the San Fernando Valley, is the longest contiguous avenue of businesses and home to multiple retailers and amenities.

The uniqueness of this offering is further defined by its proximity to some of the country's largest planned developments in the Warner Center, known as the central business district of the San Fernando Valley. Warner Center is one of Los Angeles' largest urban developments, providing an extensive complex of office parks, high-rise office towers, apartments, and shopping centers including Westfield Topanga and the Village at Westfield Topanga. With the advent of the Warner Center 2035 Plan, Warner Center is quickly becoming one of the fastest growing submarkets in the country. The Warner Center 2035 Plan increases the floor area ratio of sites within the designated boundaries to 4.5:1 FAR with unlimited height restrictions. The plan is a development blueprint for Warner Center that emphasizes mixed-use and transit-oriented development, walkability, and sustainability. The Plan seeks to create an environmentally, socially, and economically sustainable center for the West Valley. Because of the rapid growth in Warner Center, the area and its immediate surroundings have seen rent growth of more than 2.5% annually over the past 10 years.
