About the Area

Tempe Retail Leasing Trends

At $25.00/SF, the average asking rent offers a discount to Phoenix, though prime locations near Downtown Tempe and ASU can command steeper price tags. Rent growth finished 2023 at the highest level on record but has been decelerating throughout the year. Over the past 12 months, the average asking rent increased 6.2% and expectations are for further easing into 2025.

Tempe's large population of students and young professionals has made the first-ring suburb one of the most vibrant and dynamic areas in metropolitan Phoenix. Tempe is home to Arizona State University, the largest university in the country, where 56,600 students were enrolled at the main campus in fall 2024. The university, along with an attractive quality of life, provides the area with a deep pool of talented labor and healthy demographics that support spending at local retailers as well as the area's long-term economic outlook

Historically, the submarket's vacancy rate has trended about 160 basis points below the market-wide level, but a string of move-outs in 2019 and 2020 has caused vacancy and space availability to be on par with or above Phoenix overall. PickleMall opened its inaugural location at the Arizona Mills shopping mall last summer, taking a 104,000-SF space formerly occupied by At Home. The sizable move-in helped compress vacancy to 6.0%, compared to the high-8% range in late 2020.
