AREA OVERVIEW

The County Seat of Wood County, Quitman is a scenic town about 90 minutes east of Dallas and easily accessible at the convergence of state highways 182, 154, and 37.

World Class Fishing

One of the primary attractions of the area is the world class fishing! Lake Fork is arguably the greatest bass fishing lake in the country and home to nearly all of the Texas Top 50 Giants. Anglers travel to Lake Fork from all over the state, country, and even the world to have a chance to catch the next giant bass. Fishing tournaments, guides, and boat rentals create opportunities for fishermen of any experience or skill level to get on the lake and fish. In addition to bass fishing, Lake Fork boasts excellent crappie, bream, catfish, bowfin, carp, and more.

Tourism

With more than 50 fishing tournaments scheduled on Lake Fork throughout the course of a year (multiple tournaments per month, every month except January), there's a constant flood of fisherman and spectators traveling to the lake for fishing related events - estimated over 300,000 people annually. There's a tourism market outside of these tournaments as well, with residents of larger cities retreating to the lake to enjoy the peace and quiet. About 15% of homes in the area are owned as vacation homes, contributing to the regular flow of guests to the area. This creates a great opportunity for local businesses in the tourism industry.

AREA OVERVIEW

ECONOMY

Quitman, TX is a small town with a modest economy. It relies heavily on agriculture, with farming and ranching being significant contributors. Small businesses, including local shops and restaurants, also play a role in sustaining the local economy. However, job opportunities are somewhat limited, and many residents commute to nearby cities for employment. The town has a tight-knit community feel, and while it may not offer the same level of economic prosperity as larger urban areas, it provides a sense of belonging and charm for its residents.

POPULATION

Quitman, Texas, is a small city with a population of almost 2,000 residents. It's known for its setting near Lake Fork - a world famous trophy fishing lake. The city sees a great influx of people throughout the fishing tournament season, which runs year round.

INFRASTRUCTURE

The infrastructure of Quitman, Texas, and Wood County is characteristic of most rural areas. The road network includes local roads and highways, with an emphasis on connecting these smaller towns to nearby cities, such as Tyler (about 35 miles southeast), or Dallas (about 95 miles to the west). The local hospital is a 5-star rated member of the UT Health family, and public schools adequately serve education needs. While parks and natural areas offer recreational opportunities, the biggest draw to the area is fishing. Overall, the infrastructure supports the rural lifestyle of the community, with an understanding of resource limitations compared to urban areas. The local businesses enjoy a large percentage of their revenue from the tourism industry.
