PROPERTY DESCRIPTION

The Property is prominently positioned approximately 340 feet west of Ninth Avenue on the south side of West 44th Street, with 40 feet of frontage. The improvements comprise a voluminous building that has served as the home for a nonprofit organization that provides numerous services to New York’s performing arts industry.

424 West 44th Street was built in 1910 in the Gothic Revival style. It is three stories tall with a partial lower level. There are several offices, a library, and a large multi-purpose room on the ground floor which can be accessed from the street via six steps. Two staircases in the entryway provide access to the second floor with additional offices, a pantry and a double-height column-free performance space (with an up-to-date Place of Assembly certificate). A staircase on the eastern side of the second floor leads to the upper levels, including the roof. The third floor has offices and studies for visiting playwrights, and the roof has been renovated to create a roof deck area with a large covered storage area.
