Along with the major road improvements on Houghton Road, there have been other developments that will drive more traffic to the subject property. In 2005, 2010 and 2015, the Southeast Submarket had more “New Home Closings” than any of the other Tucson Submarkets. Mattamy Homes, Canada’s largest residential home builder, started in 1978, recently purchased 173 acres of city-owned land in an auction at Drexel and Houghton Rd., approximately 2 miles north of the subject. Mattamy is developing 800 single-family homes on this property. Additionally, the city of Tucson recently de-annexed a portion of Valencia Road east of the subject, clearing the way for a bridge to be built over the Pantano Wash by Diamond Ventures, the developer of Rocking K Ranch. The bridge will connect Rocking K Ranch (planned for 5,000 homes) to Houghton Road, and as announced, Diamond Ventures is preparing to begin additional residential development at Rocking K Ranch. Future development in the area includes 8,000 – 12,000 acres of unimproved land along the Houghton Road Corridor north and south of the property. Included in that are the three remaining undeveloped corners at Houghton and Valencia, which are owned by the Arizona State Land Trust. This land included parcels that are planned to be ground leased for commercial development, as well as 1,100 acres of unimproved land that is slated for residential development.
