Market Fundamentals & Economic Drivers

- Maricopa has been among Arizona's faster-growing municipalities, reflecting continued Phoenix metro spillover into Pinal County.
- Improving regional access through the SR 347 (John Wayne Parkway) widening project, where ADOT began construction on June 29, 2026, to expand portions of the corridor to three lanes in each direction and add grade-separated overpasses at key intersections — a major connectivity upgrade supporting residential growth and workforce commuting.
- Broader Economic Context: Services and retail as current employment base, with healthcare, recreation, and hospitality expansion occurring on and around Copper Sky itself.
- Secondary-Market Advantages: Lower land basis relative to core Phoenix submarkets while still capturing growth demand.

INCENTIVE & FINANCING

COPPER SKY DEVELOPMENT ADVANTAGE:

Strategic incentives, City support, and flexibility for multifamily and senior living.

Both the Copper Sky multifamily and senior living opportunities are located within the 2026 Small DDA (ZCTA 85138 / Census Tract 17.14), providing eligibility for a 30% basis boost and enhancing the potential financial feasibility of each development. The designation can provide meaningful advantages for 4% LIHTC + bond financing, as well as Rural / Balance-of-State 9% applications. Combined with the City of Maricopa's cooperation on density and height, these incentives help mitigate entitlement and development risk while creating greater flexibility in site planning. Together, these factors strengthen the positioning of both the multifamily and senior living plans within the growing Copper Sky area.
