Revitalized Oceanside Transit Center

The reimagined Oceanside Transit Center (OTC) is set to become a vibrant, mixed-use destination that will benefit both locals and visitors. With enhanced bus and train connections, as well as improved bicycle and pedestrian access, the OTC will make getting around easier and more efficient. This project also promotes sustainable transportation and introduces new housing options, bringing fresh energy and convenience to the community.

Regal Cinemas Redevelopment

Regal Cinemas will be replaced by a vibrant seven-story mixed-use development in downtown Oceanside, featuring 321 residential units, retail shops, and restaurants. The project will include three levels of parking and modern living spaces, designed to enhance the area's appeal. This transformation will boost housing availability, increase foot traffic, and support local businesses, turning the site into a dynamic destination.

Oceanside is a vibrant coastal city in San Diego County known for its laid-back charm, rich surf culture, and growing reputation as a foodie destination. Often described as offering “flip-flop fine dining,” Oceanside blends upscale cuisine with a relaxed beach-town vibe and is a standout in Southern California’s renowned craft brewery scene. Its beaches and 1,942-foot-long pier attract surfers, anglers, and visitors seeking scenic ocean views and outdoor adventures. With cultural attractions like the California Surf Museum and historic landmarks such as the “King of Missions,” Oceanside offers a unique mix of history, recreation, and modern coastal living.
