PROPERTY OVERVIEW

Located in Bloomington, Minnesota, this property enjoys a high-visibility address in the heart of the metro's southwestern corridor—just minutes from major highways and the Minneapolis–St. Paul International Airport. Its easy access to both the core metro and suburban amenities makes it an ideal headquarters site for professional services, technology, R&D, or manufacturing company.

The building has served as the North American headquarters of a global company since 1997. Given its longstanding use as a high-tech corporate and manufacturing facility, the space is well suited to organizations seeking a ready-infrastructure location—with office, logistics, production and R&D capabilities already proven.

PROPERTY FEATURES

- Proximity to amenities: Major retail, dining, transit and lodging nearby, the site supports both the employee experience and business hospitality needs
- Flexible use: Built for office, assembly/production, and research & development, the property offers multi-modal use options
- Strategic site access: Easy access for employees, suppliers and distribution—with major highways and airport connectivity
