No other neighborhood in any major US city offers the diversity and quality of businesses, transit, architecture, food & beverage, innovative and diverse products & services, housing, entertainment and cultural options than the Central Eastside of Portland. Sure, our city has been wounded by the pandemic and some chronic but improving quality of life and business issues. While the Central Eastside has not been immune to these challenges this unstoppable neighborhood has displayed, like always, in its 150 year old history an uncanny resiliency and ability to grow, create and prosper even in tough times.

A FEW FACTS AND ATTRACTIONS ABOUT THE CENTRAL EASTSIDE

HOPSCOTCH

Hopscotch Immersive Art Experience Just Opened!. Hopscotch started in San Antonio and picked Portland and the Central Eastside from over a dozen cities. This is a uniquely curated, permanent experiential art gallery that features distinct interactive installations created by artists from around the world. They aim to elicit a sense of joy and wonder in the spaces we curate, where guests may participate in a playful manner and explore beyond their day-to-day reality. Hundreds of thousands of visits are projected and reservations are now booked out months!

LIVE NATION

A proposed new 3500 seat live music venue to be curated by the worlds largest and most successful live entertainment company; Live Nation. To be located strategically on vacant land on SE Water Avenue, this first new live music venue in Portland in decades will fill a much needed capacity niche that Portland has lacked that will allow many artists a setting to perform who previously skipped Portland. The positive ripple effects of this development will be to provide thousands of new jobs and millions of dollars in increased business for suppliers/servicers as well for hospitality and food/beverage business both in Portland's downtown and the Central Eastside. The live music entertain pie will just get bigger and much more exciting!!

MORE DEVLOPEMENTS

Two state-of-art thoughtfully designed large mixed use projects are winding their way through design and permitting that will bring over a 1000 new upscale apartment units along with thousands of square feet of activated retail uses. Sandy Pine on SE Sandy will be one of the largest cross laminated timber buildings ever constructed at 12 stories. Bringing over 270 units the design is striking by lauded local architect firm Lever. Ground breaking is slated by the end of the year. The other is a huge 800 unit mixed use project proposed on 5 city blocks at the nexus of the close in eastside's most important and visible intersections at East Burnside/Sandy/12th. There will be up to 15,000 sf of ground level retail and because of the projects size it will create a live/work/play bike and pedestrian oriented "village" never seen in Portland. Development is projected to start in 2024 and together these two projects represent an investment of over $400 million.
