Who Lives Here

Residents are young, urban professionals primarily working in innovation industries and earning higher-than-average wages.

Downtown San Diego has an over concentration of the most in-demand talent.

Downtown’s surrounding urban neighborhoods are widely viewed as a hub for arts and culture, as well as a top destination for networking, gathering, and living.

CITY LIFE Age 18–35

A combination of young professionals and students living in the nation’s most density populated and expensive cities. While many are starting in white-collar professional careers, others of this highly mobile group are still finishing their degrees.

URBAN DIVERSITY Age 46–75

Households predominantly in their 50’s. These middle-income, white-collar professionals take advantage of urban life, enjoying the income and time that they have to the fullest. They spend their time on the Internet reading news and enjoy sports and movies.

CAREER BUILDING Age 18–35

Made up of young singles with no children. They are a mix of mobile renters and first-time homeowners, living in condos and single-family houses. They are beginning to save and invest while also enjoying new technology and trendy stores that cater to their age range.

URBAN DIVERSITY Age 46–75

Single, ethnically diverse urbanites in their 30s to 50s with no children in the home. They work in a broad spectrum of white-collar jobs. Spending reflects clothing, shoes, electronics and travel, enjoying a rich cultural experience.

Consumers are Driving the Downtown Evolution

San Diego

America’s Finest City

Downtown is home to many attractions for residents as well as those who visit from outside the area. According to a survey of San Diegans who live and visit the Downtown area, Petco Park, Seaport Village, and Little Italy are the top three attractions. Downtown also has a reputation as the premier location for nightlife activities, attracting visitors from across the county and outside the region. Yet, those living downtown are more likely to enjoy these amenities.

The planned growth of Downtown will only boost its popularity among desirable American cities to live, work & play.
