Park City Area

Park City, Utah, in Summit County, sits along the Wasatch Back—just 32 miles from downtown Salt Lake City and 20 miles from Sugar House via Interstate 80. Known worldwide as a premier mountain destination, the city welcomes a seasonal visitor population that far exceeds its permanent residents, contributing an average of $529.8 million annually to Utah’s economy.

Park City is home to two internationally acclaimed ski resorts: Park City Mountain Resort—the largest ski area in the United States with 330 trails, 43 lifts, and 6 terrain parks—and Deer Valley Resort®, repeatedly ranked the #1 ski resort in the nation. Both resorts played host to major alpine and snowboarding competitions during the 2002 Winter Olympics and are preparing to once again be center stage as key venues for the 2034 Winter Olympics.

The city’s Olympic legacy lives on at the Utah Olympic Park, which features the 2002 Olympic bobsled, skeleton, and luge track, and remains a world-class training ground for elite athletes. Park City is also home to the U.S. Ski & Snowboard Team, training grounds for the Australian Freestyle Ski Team, and a thriving outdoor industry, with companies like Backcountry.com, Rossignol USA, and Skullcandy headquartered here.

Beyond the slopes, Park City offers year-round recreation and lifestyle amenities: golf courses, hiking and biking trails, reservoirs, hot springs, and endless opportunities for snowmobiling, cross-country skiing, and backcountry adventure. Its lively Main Street in Old Town features world-class dining, boutique shopping, nightlife, and cultural experiences
